Butler hosts Memorial Day Parade

Services held to honor veterans

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The city of Butler conducted a Memorial Day Parade on Monday, May 26, 2014. The tandem movement of so many people and so many vehicles in one direction to celebrate Pendleton County veterans was a beautiful sight to behold.

After the parade services were held in Butler's Community Park to pay tribute to local military heroes. American Legion Chaplain Shelby McDowell gave the opening prayer.

Matt Sorrell sang the national anthem. There was a Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Why is it important to remember D-Day?

June 6, 1944, 160,000 Allied troops landed along a 50-mile stretch of heavily-fortified French coastline to fight Nazi Germany on the beaches of Normandy, France. The D-Day cost was high - more than 9,000 Allied Soldiers were killed or wounded - but more than 100,000 soldiers began the march across Europe to defeat Hitler.

The following is part of the speech that General Dwight Eisenhower sent just prior to the Invasion of Normandy: "Soldiers, Sailors and Airmen of the Allied Expeditionary Force! You are about to embark upon a great crusade, toward which we have striven these many months. The eyes of the world are upon you. The hopes and prayers of liberty loving people everywhere march with you. In company with our brave Allies and brothers in arms on other fronts, you will bring about the destruction of the German war machine, the elimination of Nazi tyranny over the oppressed peoples of Europe, and security for ourselves in a free world."

Teachers and students recognized by Pendleton County School Board

The Pendleton County Board of Education met on May 29, 2014. Under the (Great News) part of that night's agenda teachers and students were honored for recent achievements.

Man charged with crimes related to child pornography

A Pendleton County man was arrested on charges related to child pornography Thursday, May 29 after Kentucky State Police served a search warrant at his home.

Gary Neil Pollard, 30, is charged with one count of distribution of matter portraying a sex performance by a minor and 16 counts of possession of matter portraying a sex performance by a minor. He was lodged in the Boone County Jail.

GARY POLLARD

Pollard was arrested as the result of an ongoing undercover Internet Crimes Against Children investigation. Detectives with the KSP Electronic Crime Branch began investigating after they discovered a suspect sharing images of child sexual exploitation online.

The investigation resulted in the execution of a search warrant at Pollard's residence in Butler on Thursday, May 29, 2014, by the KSP Electronic Crime Branch. Troopers from Post 6 in Dry Ridge assisted on the scene. Equipment used to distribute and possess child pornography was seized and taken to KSP's Forensic Laboratory for examination.

Ky Cooperative Extension announces photo contest

The theme of this year's photo contest sponsored by the Pendleton County Extension Homemakers at the Pendleton County Youth Fair will be hand water pumps.

Take a photo of a hand water pump (such as a cistern hand pump) in Pendleton County. The photo must measure 5"x7" and must be mounted on an 8"x10" mounting board.

The person taking the winning photo will receive a picture frame and $25 both sponsored by the Pendleton County Extension Home-

Entries need to be submitted on Monday, July 21, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the Floral Hall at the Pendleton County Fairgrounds.

On the back of the picture attach the following information: name, address, city, state, zip, phone number, date of photo, location of the hand pump, the reason this picture was chosen and any additional information of local interest such as the story or history of the pump, is it still in use and your connection to the pump.

Adult Summer Reading Program

Explore "Literary Elements" as you read for a chance to win free gas or a Kindle! The Pendleton County Public Library is excited about this year's Adult Summer Reading program, sponsored by the Falmouth Rotary Club. That's right! Summer Reading isn't just for kids! Stop by the library to sign up and start reading. Read just seven books, magazines, and/or newspapers between June 1 and July 26, and you'll receive a free library travel mug filled with goodies, including one Library Buck (which may be used to pay fines or purchase items in the library's book sales). For every seven items read, you'll also earn a chance in the prize drawing to win a Kindle or one of three $50 gas cards.

Robert D. Webster will be at the library at 1 p.m. on Saturday, June 7 to discuss the Beverly Hills Supper Club, its history, and the mysterious fire that spun the region into national headlines. His book The Beverly Hills Supper Club: The Untold Story of Kentucky's Worst Tragedy will be available for purchase.

Meet Jan Watson, Christian fiction author of the Troublesome Creek series, at 7 p.m. on Friday, July 11. Refreshments will start at 6:30 p.m.

Join the library for brunch from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, July 26 at the library and discuss the books you read during the program. Those who attend the brunch will have a chance to win door prizes! (You do not have to be present to win the gas cards or Kindle.)

For more information stop by the library or bookmobile to pick up a Summer Reading flyer, or give the library a call at 859-654-8535. Hours are 9 a.m. - 8 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 1-5 p.m. on Sunday.

Webster to hold book signing

Bob Webster, the author of "The Beverly Hills Supper Club Fire: The Untold Story behind Kentucky's Worst Tragedy," will be talking about and signing his book at 1 p.m., June 7 at the Pendleton County Public Library.

Webster's book is the culmination of five years of research which included digging back through local historical accounts, investigative records, and interviews with former employees of the Southgate Supper Club. His belief is that the official cause of the fire - faulty aluminum wiring - is false.

To hear the rest of the story, come to the library and meet the author!

Licking Valley Antique Tractor and Machinery Show, June 6-7

The Licking Valley Antique Machinery Association LLC will be holding an antique tractor and machinery show on Friday and Saturday, June 6-7 at the Knights of Columbus grounds in Sun Valley (four miles south of Alexandria) on Licking Pike.

In addition to antique tractors there will be old machinery with demonstrations set up. There will be arts and crafts this year along with food and drinks. A pedal pull for the kids will take place at noon on Saturday, June 7. A silent auction will also be held for those looking for a good deal.

There are no admission fees for those bringing in tractors or for the general public who are coming to the show.

For more information, please call Steve at 859-816-8810.

Don't miss the cake auction!

Mark your calendars now for the second annual cake auction sponsored by the Pendleton County Extension Homemakers beginning at 6 p.m. on Monday, July 21, at the Pendleton County Fairgrounds.

The cake auction will be held in the Griffin Center just prior to the pageant.

All money raised from the cake auction supports the Extension Homemakers' local scholarships for graduating high school seniors.

There are sure to be Blackberry Jam cakes, maybe a Red Velvet cake, Carrot cake, and many more! Come early to select the cake you want to bid on!

Come out to the fairgrounds to have a great time and let someone else do the baking for your family gathering this summer!

Summer Reading at your library

It's that time of year again! It's Summer Reading at the Pendleton County Public Library, and sign-ups begin on Monday, June 23. You can sign up any time during the Summer Reading program. You can win prizes for reading during the summer!

"Fizz Boom Read" is this year's theme for ages three through 5th grade. Programs will be held on at 11 a.m. on Thursdays and will usually last about an hour. Marie Augustine and the Garbage Can Band will be at the library on June 26 to play music from recycled things. Wump Mocket puppeteers will be coming on July 3 for a puppet show. The Living Arts & Science Center will present "Fizz Boom Science" on July 10 where they will do hands-on science experiments. Come down around with Ronald McDonald on July 17. Coyote Chris from Silly Safari will be at the library on July 24 with animals for everyone to enjoy.

The prize drawing will be at 12:15 p.m. that day.

Teen Summer Reading is for grades 6th through 12th. The theme is "Spark A Reaction." Teen programs will be held at 6 p.m. on Tuesdays. The first program will be on June 24. The Living Arts & Science Center will be at the library to do hands-on science experiments. Reed Masterson with Impossible Magic will be in attendance on July 1 to do some amazing magic. The teens will have to compete in a marshmallow challenge on July 8. Dave Myers will be stopping by on July 15 to have some science fun with the teens. The prize drawing will be held on July 1.

Stop by the library or bookmobile for more information and to pick up a Summer Reading calendar, or call 859-654-8535. Hours are 9 a.m. - 8 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 1-5 p.m. on Sunday.

TARA CHRISTEN FARRAR & MICHAEL WADE LAWS

Farrar ~ Laws announce wedding and reception

With great joy, Tara Christen Farrar, daughter of Warren and Carla Farrar of Falmouth, along with Michael Wade Laws, son of Steve and Diane Laws of DeMossville, announce their marriage, which took place on May 17, 2014 during an intimate ceremony at the couple's residence. Their daughters, Hannah and Naomi, served as wedding attendants and Minister Sam Harris officiated. The couple would like to invite all friends and family to share in their happiness at a potluck reception from 2 to 6 p.m. on June 28, 2014 at Evans Orchard and Cider Mill in Georgetown, Ky. Please contact Mike or Tara by June 20 if you plan to attend.

Wells presents at ECU Showcase

Brittany Wells, an environmental science major from Falmouth, was among more than 100 presenters in Eastern Kentucky University's annual Undergraduate Presentation Showcase, which allows students to share their scholarly and creative work with a public audience. The collaborative projects require a substantial amount of time and a commitment from students and their mentors that extends well beyond regular classroom activities. Thirty-one mentors from 15 academic departments assisted the undergraduates with their projects.

Spring Work Day held at Gardnersville Cemetery

The Gardnersville Cemetery held spring work days Thursday, April 17 and Friday, April 18, 2014. The cemetery property contained six large silver maple trees with diameters of 42 to 54 inches. The trees were badly deteriorating in need of removal. The cemetery board awarded the lowest bid to professional tree expert Stan Freeman to cut the trees down in a fashion as not to damage cemetery property. The cemetery board saved several thousand dollars by board members removing the tree debris themselves.

When funds become available, the next two projects are repaving the cemetery roads and replanting of trees. If you would like to make a donation to the cemetery for repaving the cemetery roads or purchasing a tree, please make you donation payable to the Gardnersville Cemetery. Please mail your donation to the Gardnersville Cemetery, % Sonny Caldwell, 4587 Highway 491, DeMossville, Ky. 41033.

Old letter found in book that was written before D-Day

While at an auction in Fleming County during the late 1980s, Donald Wenzel purchased a book at an auction. Inside the book he found an old letter from a man named Mel who was in the military. The letter was dated May 12, 1944. Less than a month later, D-Day, the Normandy Invasion in World War II, occurred on June 6. Wenzel shared the letter with The Outlook for its readers.

A written transcript is as follows:

Hello all,

Just a few lines to let you know I'm still alive and kicking. We haven't been doing much lately, just killing time till we move. I hope that isn't too far off but I would like to get a furlough first.

Since we are out in the woods I run around with just my shorts on quite a bit. Therefore I'm getting a good tan for this Texas sun is hot. I heard that you have been having some pretty warm weather at home too.

I suppose all of you have been pretty busy the last few weeks. I know it isn't any fun with all that work.

Since the invasion has started maybe the war won't last too long now. I look forward to being home sometime in 45.

Well that is about all I know for now so I'll close. Be good and maybe I'll see you before too long. So long and good luck.

Mel

Cheesman observes 90th birthday

Mr. Dick Cheesman celebrated his 90th birthday on Tuesday, May 27.

A nice luncheon was given by Mrs. Jean Whaley in Ft. Wright, Ky.

Those enjoying the day were Dick and Liz Cheesman, Denny and Jane Stahl and Mrs. Jean Whaley.

Sadly missed was loved one, Newt Whaley, who has passed on to a better home. Dick and Newt were best friends for many years and were great musicians.

NKCAC's Neighborhood Center distributes plants

Eighty five families in Pendleton County received potted vegetable plants for food gardens on Monday, May 19 thanks to a grant from Walmart and the Northern Kentucky Community Action Commission's Pendleton County Neighborhood Center. The plants are meant to help keep food cost down and increase the consumption of healthy foods in the community.

"Food, or more specifically, the lack of it, is such a fundamental issue," said Florence Tandy, NKCAC Executive Director. "Hungry children cannot learn and hungry adults cannot plan for the future. Through the generosity of the Walmart Foundation, we will be able to help the most vulnerable members of our community receive the nutrition they need to thrive," she continues.

NKCAC's food pantry, located in the Pendleton County Neighborhood Center on Park Street, offer direct food support to working families. "Often, the families who come to us for support are having trouble meeting their financial obligations, such as utilities and rent, and are sacrificing food to help make ends meet," says JoEllen Dawson, manager of the Pendleton County Neighborhood Center, "and we find that if we are able to help relieve their worry about their food bills, we can then help them solve their other concerns. By helping our families start or expand food gardens, we create not only short term, but sustainable, change."

Information about the neighborhood centers can be found at www.nkcac.org or by calling 859-654-4054.

Karen Davis Homemakers meet

Karen Davis Homemakers met at the home of Larry and Janice Fields on May 12. Items of discussion were the road cleanup where several bags of trash and cans were cleared from Broadford Road and the fair in July. The club will once again hold a cake auction. Some committee reports were also given and a discussion was held about new officers. The annual June picnic will be at the home of Helen Strasser on June 9 for homemakers and their families. The club will not meet again until September. Have a great summer!

Ode To The American Soldier

It is the American soldier - not the preacher - who has given us freedom of religion.

It is the American soldier - not the reporter - who has given us freedom of the press.

It is the American soldier - not the poet - who has given us freedom of speech.

It is the American soldier - not the campus organizer - who has given us freedom to assemble.

It is the American soldier - not the lawyer - who has given us the right to a fair trial.

It is the American soldier - not the politician - who has given us the right to vote.

It is the American soldier - who salutes the Flag.

It is the American soldier - who serves under the Flag.

It is the American soldier - who will show the greatest of all love.

It is the American soldier - who will lay down his life for a comrade.

Eternal rest - grant them - O Lord - and let perpetual light shine upon all American soldiers especially on those who sacrificed their lives for our American freedom! Freedom is not free!

The passing of Floyd Wills, how I knew him

My first recollection of Floyd was at the cook-out which the Pendleton County Board of Education sponsored to get acquainted with me as its newly appointed superintendent. It was held at the Clubhouse at the Pendleton Country Club and Floyd Wills was the "engineer," who oversaw the roasting of a hog near where the scoreboard sits today. I shook lots of hands that day, but I particularly remember shaking Floyd's for he was missing some fingers on his right hand. So was I, and we immediately bonded as we discussed how we had lost our digits.

Of course, Floyd was in charge of buildings and grounds, and thus began a congenial and pleasant work and personal relationship that extended years beyond my tenure. Floyd was an electrician by trade, but he was also a mechanical genius. He could handle nearly any problem that surfaced in keeping our buildings functioning effectively. He seemed to know where every pipe was buried, where every circuit was strung, when every unit needed servicing.

I suggested to Floyd one day that he should write down what he knew about the buildings and grounds for his successor. He said that he had no plans to retire, so he ignored my suggestion. And, I never followed up for things worked smoothly, and it was simpler to "Go get Floyd," when a problem arose than to shuffle through a mountain of drawings and diagrams. Floyd was a man of action who would grab four or five tools and have a problem corrected while others would still be analyzing where to begin.

Buildings and grounds supervisors can be difficult to work with for they typically do not tolerate ambiguity well for they deal with concrete problems that require concrete solutions. Humans cause problems for their conduct of business.

But Floyd was one of the best when it came to getting along with the human specie. One story will illustrate.

I received a call from one of our elementary schools that an air-conditioning unit was malfunctioning. Floyd was in the central office at the time and I asked him to investigate. Less than forty minutes later he had returned. I asked him for a status report. He replied that he had fixed it. "Tell me how," I queried.

"I know the lady who was complaining about how hot the room was. So, I went to the thermostat and tinkered with it. Then, I went down the hall to check on another problem. When I returned about 15 minutes later, she said, "'Oh, Floyd, you are so wonderful, for it is so nice and cool in here, now,"

"So it was a problem with the thermostat?"

"No," he said, "The thermostat was not wired to the air conditioner!" He grinned and so did I.

Therefore, one of the strongest assets of Floyd was his knowledge and understanding of various personalities with whom he worked, perhaps of more consequence than his technical knowledge which was immense. I do not recall a single incident of a faculty, staff or student who complained about his work or his deportment. To be sure, there was some good natured rivalry among the cooks at the various schools as to who could entice him to eat lunch at their school more frequently. I heard a cook say, "Floyd, I need my hug!" And, he obliged and went on his way, she sighing as if to say, "This is the way men ought to treat women!"

And, speaking of hugs, my wife Janice came home one day after she had been working at the Youth Fair on the campus of Southern Elementary. I asked her how her day had gone and she replied, "Okay," but then she brightened as she further reflected,

"I meant to tell you that I got a hug from Floyd!"

I replied, "Don't feel that you are special for he hugs a lot of the lady folk with whom he works! He's an old man, and they seem to like it, and he often gets an extra piece of pie from many of them."

Interestingly, Floyd was one of the most energetic members of our staff, often the first one to open the Central Office. On occasion, I would go in early and always found that Floyd was already there, reading the daily newspaper before going about his daily responsibilities.

I remember an incident that occurred during the last year of my tenure. We had divided the county into four quadrants and surveyed the staff for representatives who lived in each of these quadrants to check the roads when there was a question as to whether we would have school. Then the four representatives would meet with the Transportation Director to compare notes before he made the decision. Floyd volunteered to be one of these representatives. He said, "I am up any way and the task doesn't demand anything that I don't already do."

His funeral was a joyous one for he had lived a rich life of service to his fellow man and his church and his family. N-i-n-e-t-y s-e-v-e-n y-e-a-r-s...still driving to Falmouth to get his newspaper. Still living alone...by choice. No bad illness. I talked with him by phone recently and he could hear distinctly and his mind was still sharp! What a way to go!

I remember that Floyd and the late Charlie Lemon used to compete with each other as to who would produce the first vine-ripened tomato of the season. "They would lie and cheat to get the upper hand," so said Jimmy Godman who refereed the contest. "I suspect that they are doing the same ...Upthere!"

"Peace is a journey of a thousand miles and it must be taken one step at a time."
~ Lyndon B. Johnson

"First Kiss"

This topic is a little old fashioned or one that took place back in an earlier generation when most country guys and maybe gals some way or other remember that "first kiss." In most cases, it was a simple little 'peck,' very mysterious, impressive and quite memorable.

Most of these ol' country boys my age were naive, insecure and very much uninformed on techniques of romance. As a lad of fourteen, I became interested in the opposite sex, but was a little confused on how to proceed. I knew the initial step began with a kiss, but had concerns about when and with whom this first step would be taken.

I was worried about my "buck teeth." They stuck out in front and I feared that if I ever gave a girl a kiss, my teeth would make contact with hers.

I had other worries: This one girl in my class had a long pointed nose and I feared our noses would make contact and get in the way; I was also bothered by not knowing whether to close my eyes when kissing or to leave them open; I did not know whether to grab her in a tight embrace and bend her back; or settle with a modest 'peck.' I was confused to say the least!

Kisses at this time were much more reserved and modest compared to the passionate laden kisses of today. Kisses of today 'bare all!' It seems as when "lovers" on TV kiss, they attempt to eat each other's mouth and face. Quite shocking! They strive for passion and include very little romance and love.

I don't think you could top the scene in the movie "It's a Wonderful Life," starring Jimmy Stewart as George Bailey and Donna Reed, as Mary. This kissing and hugging was timed when each committed their love for each other and pledged to be married.

There was no tongue twisting or gulping in mad passion, only modest kissing and hugs that radiated true love and devotion. It was so beautiful; I shed a tear or two.

I think the account that I want to share happened in the spring of 1958. I was a seventh grader at Goforth Elementary School. We were near the end of the school year and our cafeteria manager, Audrey Cummins, a fine lady, had invited the basketball team and cheerleaders to her home for a cookout to celebrated the team's accomplishments.

One Friday after school, we rode the bus to Audrey's house. After a fun-filled evening and delicious meal of hot dogs, hamburgers, baked beans and other delicacies, our young imaginations went wild.

Darkness approached and one of the guys found an old 16 oz. Pepsi bottle and suggested we go to a dark corner of the house and play "spin the bottle."

For those who have never played this game let me explain: All boys and girls sit in a circle, turns are taken, when a boy spins the bottle and it stops and points to the nearest girl, he is permitted to take the girl to the dark corner and kiss her.

One can imagine the excitement and nervousness that ran through my inner being. "I WAS ACTUALLY GOING TO KISS A GIRL!"

When my turn came, I nervously grabbed the bottle and gave it a spin. When it stopped it pointed directly to a girl I had been dreaming about.

I stood up and began walking toward the dark corner. As I approached the corner, I remembered the part about closing my eyes before kissing. I closed my eyes and rounded the corner, perhaps a bit too early, and hung my toe on a flower pot and stumbled headlong. I regained my composure, and saw the image of the girl. I approached, placed my hands on her shoulders, and gave her an innocent peck, RIGHT ON THE LIPS!

Shivers went all the way from the bottoms of my feet to the top of my head. We didn't hit each other's teeth or bump noses and I was able to complete the first step of the process. I knew right then that I was going to like the process. With a little practice I felt I could be a real Don Juan, the proverbial Spanish lover and seducer of women!

Local church hopeful for the future of PC's cleanliness

Dear Editor,
On April 5, 2014 13 members of Falmouth Wesleyan Church picked up trash on Ky 330 and collected 37 bags of trash. The group was amazed at the amount of litter on the road. The children especially commented on the amount of alcohol cans and bottles that were found and had concerns about drunk drivers. We are hopeful that in the future we will see a reduction in the amount of litter on every road. Let's all do our part in keeping Pendleton County clean and safe!

Sincerely,
Sheila Turner

Morgan Christian participates in trash pick-up

Dear Editor,
On April 15, 2014 the Morgan Christian Church had the opportunity to pick up garbage. We picked up along Hwy 330. We had 21 people join in the effort which took us approximately three hours. We collected 55 bags of garbage.

We would like to take this time to say "Thank you" for allowing Morgan Christian Church this opportunity to be involved in our community and this clean-up effort. We really feel that it allows us to make a difference.

Sincerely,
Steve Wood

THE NATE JONES REPORT

By Jack Wright

Pendleton County's hometown Major League Baseball star, Nathan Andrew "Nate" Jones, is in his third season as a relief pitcher with the Chicago White Sox. Below are brief details of his in-game activities for the week ending June 1, 2014.

Finally, there is some positive news from the White Sox training and rehabilitation facilities about Jones' recovery. After being on the disabled list since April 4, undergoing microdiscectomy lower back surgery on May 5, this past week, for the first time, Jones felt no pain after physical rehabilitation procedures.

Although this is encouraging news, it still looks like it will be after the Major League All Star Game break (mid-July) before Jones might be able to resume active duty participation with the White Sox at the Major League level.

Jones' stats for the season: 2 games; 0.0 innings pitched; 5 batters faced; 29 pitches (13 strikes); 2 hits; 3 walks; 4 runs (earned); 1 blown save.

Sox season record: 29 wins; 29 losses; second place in the American League Central Division; four-and-a-half games behind the division leading Detroit Tigers.

Comments and/or suggestions about this column are welcome and can be emailed to jack_19366@msn.com. Currently there are 192 members of The Jones Report distribution group that receive instant email reports each time he pitches and sometimes when he doesn't. Pendleton Co. Water Dis. North & South Water Quality Report for year 2013

This report is designed to inform the public about the quality of water and services provided on a daily basis. Our commitment is to provide our customers with a safe, clean, and reliable supply of drinking water. We want to assure that we will continue to monitor, improve, and protect the water system and deliver a high quality product. Water is the most indispensable product in every home and we ask everyone to be conservative and help us in our efforts to protect the water source and the water system.

We purchase water from the City of Falmouth and Northern KY Water District. The sources of water is surface water from the Licking River and Ohio River, respectively. A source water assessment has been completed for both surface water sources. The susceptibility of these sources to contamination is moderate. The area around the river is mostly residential but also contains some agricultural, recreational, and light industry activities. Activities and land use within the watershed can pose potential risks to your drinking water. Under certain circumstances contaminants could be released that would pose challenges to water treatment or even get into your drinking water. These activities, and how they are conducted, are of interest to the entire community because they potentially affect your health and the cost of treating your water. The completed source water assessments can be reviewed at the Northern KY Area Development District.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects may be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and may pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include: Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, (sewage plants, septic systems, livestock operations, or wildlife). Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, (naturally occurring or from stormwater runoff, wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming). Pesticides and herbicides, (stormwater runoff, agriculture or residential uses). Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, (by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, or from gas stations, stormwater runoff, or septic systems). Radioactive contaminants, (naturally occurring or from oil and gas production or mining activities).

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water to provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Some or all of these definitions may be found in this report:

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) - the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) - the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

Below Detection Levels (BDL) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Not Applicable (N/A) - does not apply.

Parts per million (ppm) - or milligrams per liter, (mg/L). One part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) - or micrograms per liter, (µg/L). One part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Parts per trillion (ppt) - one part per trillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000,000.

Parts per quadrillion (ppq) - one part per quadrillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000,000 years or one penny in $10,000,000,000,000.

Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - a measure of the radioactivity in water.

Millirems per year (mrem/yr) - measure of radiation absorbed by the body.

Million Fibers per Liter (MFL) - a measure of the presence of asbestos fibers that are longer than 10

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity has no health effects. However, turbidity can provide a medium for microbial growth. Turbidity is monitored because it is a good indicator of the effectiveness of the filtration system.

Variances & Exemptions (V&E) - State or EPA permission not to meet an MCL or a treatment technique under certain conditions.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system shall follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking

Information About Lead:

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Your local public water system is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Spanish (Español) Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre la calidad de su agua beber. Tradúzcalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien

The data presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with administrative regulations in 401 KAR Chapter 8. As authorized and approved by EPA, the State has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data in this table, though representative, may be more than one year old. Unless otherwise noted, the report level is the highest level detected.

Falmouth received a notice of violation for exceeding the MCL in reference to the Haloacetic acids parameter during the 3rd quarter of 2013 for having a quarter average of 65 and annual running average of 63 for Haloacetic acids. The standard for Haloacetic acids is .060 mg/l. In an effort to resolve this issue numerous operational procedures are being attempted including, but not limited to, reducing disinfection to the lowest level possible without compromising health and safety, increasing the addition of activated carbon, adjust the tank levels, more frequent flushing to solve the problem. Haloacetic acids-Some people who drink water containing Haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have a increased risk of getting cancer.

Wildcat Basketball Camp to be held at PCHS, June 16-19

The Pendleton County High School Basketball Coaching Staff along with junior varsity and varsity players will be holding a Wildcat Basketball Camp June 16-19 at the high school. There will also be special guests to speak to the campers about their experience playing college basketball and to answer questions.

The purpose of the camp is to introduce, improve, and reinforce the fundamental skills of basketball. There will also be competition among campers for prizes as well as league games.

The camp is organized into two separate instructional sessions to better accommodate the needs of individual campers.

The first session will be for students entering second grade through fifth grade. Camp time will be from 8-11 a.m.

The second session will be for students entering sixth grade through ninth grade. Camp time is from noon - 3 p.m.

Cost of the camp is $50 and includes a T-shirt. Checks or money orders can be made payable to Keaton Belcher, Head Basketball Coach, Pendleton County High School, 2359 Hwy 27 North, Falmouth, KY 41040.

For questions or to pick up a registration form/personal slip please contact Keaton Belcher at 859-322-6327.

CITY RESIDENTS NO MORE PUBLIC DUMPING AT ST. VINCENT DEPAUL

The City of Falmouth will begin picking up select furniture items curb side beginning June 2, 2014. You are being asked to wrap cloth furniture. To multi-unit owners: If you have to clean out apartments/units when someone leaves, City Ordinance allows an extra garbage pickup fee for excess.

Due to issues beyond our control, the dumpsters at St Vincent DePaul are being removed for public use. We apologize for any confusion and/or inconvenience, but the dumpsters are being abused and not manageable at present.

For all Pendleton County/City of Falmouth residents-it is worth noting that Rumpke has a "FREE" day every second Saturday of the each month for disposal. You can take any amount to the landfill free on those days by showing driver's license as proof of residency. The exception would be tires.

Source of Title: Being the same property conveyed to Odes R. Milner, by deed from Roxie Milner, an unmarried widow, dated 30 September 1999, of record in Deed Book 224, page 362; and being the same property conveyed to Odes R. Milner, a single man, by Deed of Correction from Roxie Milner, a single woman, dated 25 September 2003, of record in Deed Book 257, page 460. All references are to the Pendleton County Clerk's office, Falmouth, Kentucky.

There is a mobile home, doublewide and/or manufactured home included in the sale of PARCEL NO. 2, PARCEL NO. 3, or PARCEL NO. 4.

Pursuant to the above-referenced Judgment and Order of Sale, each of the above-described four tracts of land will be sold separately. This property is being sold to produce the sum of $99,229.95 together with accrued interest and late fees thereon to May 22, 2011 in the amount of $2,220.01 for a total judgment of $101,449.96, plus attorney's fees and costs in the amount of $1,500.00, and interest thereafter at the contract rate of 7.95%.

The property shall be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

1) The purchaser shall be required to pay ten percent (10%) of the purchase price on the date of the sale, to apply on the purchase price;

2) The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable, in cash or certified funds, within sixty (60) days from the date of sale;

3) The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety thereon for the unpaid balance of the purchase price, said bond to bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, until paid;

4) The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal, together with all accrued interest thereon;

5) The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay any and all ad valorem taxes on the subject property for the current year, and all subsequent taxes;

6) The subject property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and claims of any party to this action, except restrictions and easements thereon appearing of record in the Pendleton County Clerk's Office, if any;

7) Possession of the subject property shall be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of Commissioner's sale, and the Defendants or any persons claiming through them shall have vacated the premises by that time;

8) Said property shall be sold subject to:

a. Assessments for public improvements levied against the subject property,
b. Existing zoning ordinances, statutes, laws, or regulations;
c. Any facts which an accurate survey or inspection of the property may disclose.

Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.
